As part of the RSCDS Centenary events, the Wellington Region has organised a very special occasion for intermediate dancers and above celebrating the role of the extended region as the well-spring of Scottish Country Dancing in New Zealand.

Iain Boyd, Romaine Butterfield, Edith Campbell and Elaine Laidlaw have chosen dances from the early days of Scottish Country Dancing in the lower North Island, based around Morison's Bush Collection and The Harbour City Collection. These well-regarded tutors from our region will teach the dances as part of the Society's Centenary Celebrations.

To add to this unique experience, The Cranberry Tarts—Aileen Logie and Hilary Ferral—will provide music from the original tunes and arrangements used by Peter Elmes for both books.

1.00pm-4.00pm, Saturday 29 April

This will be an historic event
Come and join the celebration!
